

Governmental Affairs

Morris Nichols represents a broad range of clients before legislative bodies and city, state and federal agencies.

Our clients include governmental entities, as well as banks, trust companies, insurance companies and public utilities in commercial transactions, and before regulatory authorities and state, county, and local governments.

We are active participants in drafting legislation and regulations and provide ongoing review of legislative developments. We also advise state public sector clients in matters involving financing transactions, litigation, bidding procedures and other matters of Delaware law.

