

Shareholder Class & Derivative Litigation

As shapers of Delaware corporate law, clients and counsel routinely turn to us to handle their most complex and sophisticated corporate disputes, including shareholder class and derivative cases before the Delaware Court of Chancery.

We have a distinguished track record in representing boards of directors, special committees and acquirors in shareholder class and derivative actions challenging mergers, acquisitions, going private transactions, and other disputes involving Delaware corporations, master limited partnerships, limited liability corporations, and other alternative entities.
